PackShare

Will's Community focus

Packshare is a website that helps people find local businesses who can reuse their waste mail-order packaging.

People can search by their location and the items of packaging they have, Packshare then brings up a list of the 4 nearest businesses who can reuse that packaging. This means not only is it great for the environment, it's also great for small businesses who can save money on buying in packaging by sourcing it from their community.

But it's more than that - Packshare builds a sense of community, connecting up people who care about the environment with businesses who have an environmental ethos. You can sign up to receive packaging, or search local businesses who can reuse your waste packaging at www.packshare.org.

Parish Focus

Clean Cornwall is working to support Parishes in their environmental efforts by sharing information, experience and ideas.

We would like to know what parishes around Cornwall are doing about the environmental issues we face. This has varied from supporting litter pick groups or setting up refill stations and repair shops.

Parishes can contact Clean.Cornwall@cornwallrcc.org.uk for more information.

Equipment

We are asking groups to let Biffa know if any equipment they use is damaged.

We understand that sometimes kit can break.

By letting Biffa know, groups can help them manage the stock of equipment and avoid damaged equipment being loaned out to other groups.
