

Allsop Cup: Go Wild For Wildlife

The Allsop Cup is an environmental study, organised by the Environment and Public Affairs Sub-Committee and Cornwall Wildlife Trust (CWT), that takes place every five years and runs for a full year.

The topic for the next study is 'Go Wild for Wildlife', based on the concern that nature is seriously declining across the UK, a country that is already one of the most nature-depleted in the world. The Natural England 'State of Nature' reports data showing that, since 1970, UK species have declined by about 19% on average, and nearly 1 in 6 species are now threatened with extinction.

A minimum of four (4) members must be involved in the study, which can be in your own gardens, in your local community or in partnership with other organisations. At the end of the year you can present your study results in all sorts of imaginative ways: written reports including illustrations, charts and photographs; craft items; or digital media. No names are to be given within the text, but please include a separate sheet with your entry listing the name of your WI and the names of those involved.

The competition will run from 1 January–31 December 2025. The full entry is due at Chy Noweth by Thursday 30 January 2026, giving a month for the final write-up. Cornwall Wildlife Trust will judge the entries and the winner will be announced on our website and in County News.
